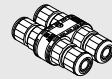

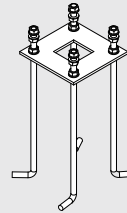

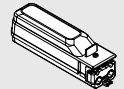

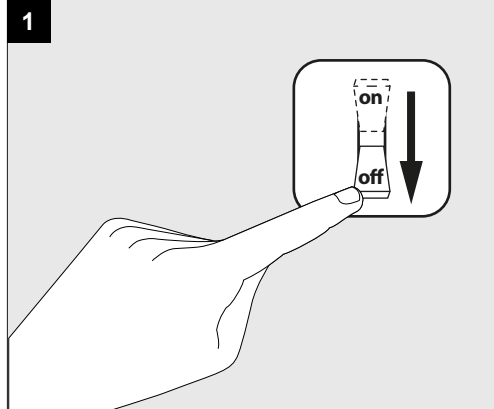

PLATE 11

ACCESSORY SET

Bolt holes in the base plates of the poles have a square bolt dimension of 200 mm. See Bolt Center Dimension on the drawing.

The PLATE 11 is composed of a firm galvanized steel plate (conforms to the same bolt dimensions of the base plate of the pole) and 4 anchor bolts with all the needed washers and nuts.

Assemble the plate according to the drawing. Make sure the foundation bolt is put together accurately with bolts vertical and fixed rigidly so it won't be displaced or misaligned during concreting.

- 4 Protect the top parts of the anchor bolts with tape so that the thread of the rods still can be used during installation of the pole

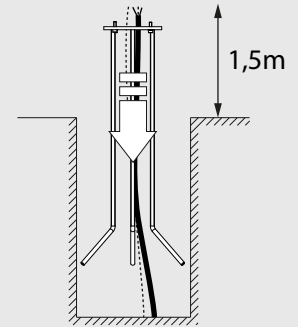

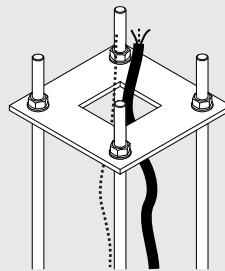

CROSS SECTION

	Pole 4m
A - Depth	800mm
B - Width	500x500mm
C - Anchor Length	645mm
D - Bolt projection	110mm
Torque value for M20 nuts	60Nm

Make the suitable excavated hole in undisturbed ground

- 6 For the electrical connection a cable length of approx. 1.5m above mounting surface must be left

- 7 Place the assembled PLATE 11 on the exact position and line up if necessary.

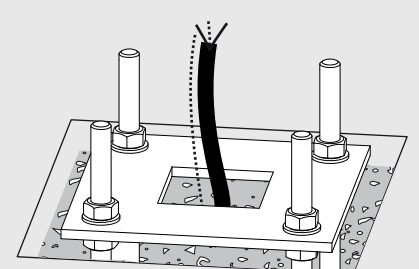

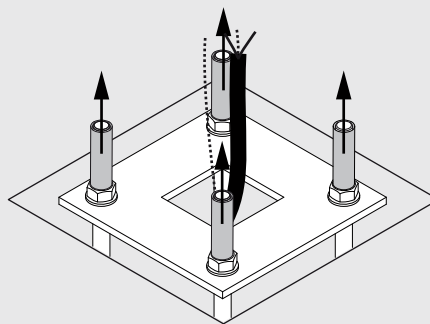

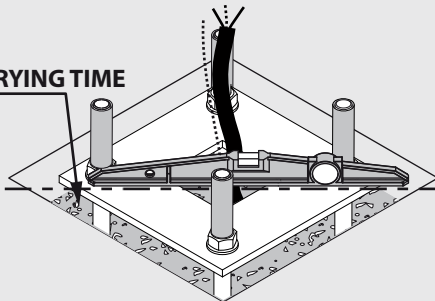

Check final mounting orientation of the hatch.

Check the anchor bolt projection (D). This is the height the anchor bolt protrudes above the concrete surface
Too little projection and the pole may not be properly secured; Too much and the bolts may be subject to unwanted bending stress.

- 8

DRYING TIME

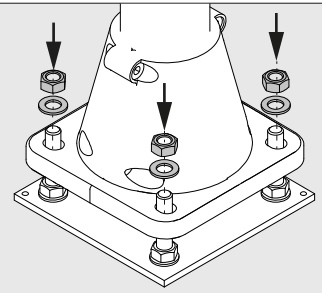

9

Install one nut (with washer) on each anchor bolt.

The nut must be screwed down on the thread to the top of the base plate and be checked using a hand level to ensure that the top surfaces of the 4 nuts are the same height.

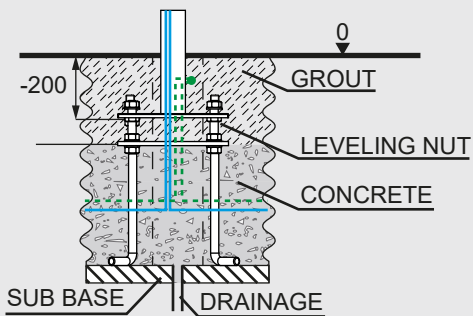

10

Install the pole with its base plate holes over the bolts.

Install the second nut (with washer) screwed down to the base plate of the pole

11

When erecting the pole, it should be 'plumb' (perfectly vertical).

This can be accomplished easily with the leveling nuts and washers provided. An accurate level is recommended for this operation.

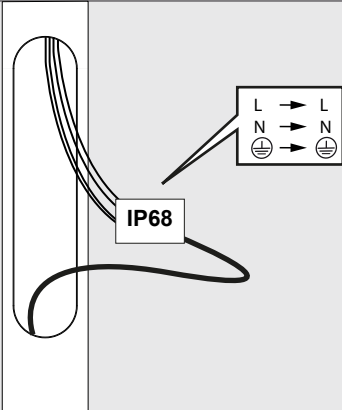

The anchor bolts nuts must be tightened to the torque value as listed in the table. A torque wrench is required for this operation.

If required, please add grout to fill the gap between pole base plate and the concrete foundation.

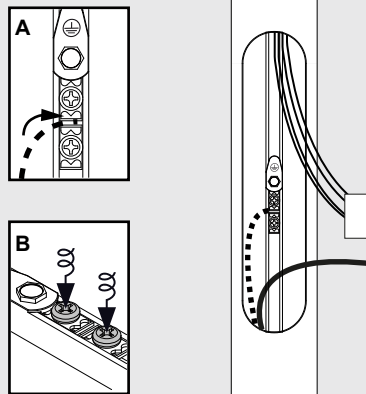

Avoid large spaces between the pole base plate and the concrete because this can cause excessive stresses in the anchor.

If preparing the power cords, use tyrap cords with a anocharge of 150N.
